Field Day events announced

by Stacey Nicholas

Marian College's annual field day, formally called the all school picnic, will be held on Friday, April 29. Events will begin on the campus then move to St. Maur's Activities will begin on campus with the 9:30 volleyball games in the Intramural Gym. In the first game, the freshmen/sophomore classes are up against the junior/senior classes. Two faculty teams will go head to head in the second game. The winners of the first two games will battle it out for the title in the following championship game.

At 10:15, the students will step to the plate in a softball game against the faculty. The game is scheduled to be played behind the left field of the baseball diamond.

The Little 500 bike racers leave the starting line on the oval in front of Marian Hall at 11:00. Each class will have a team competing.

Following lunch in the cafe, there will be a social gathering at St. Maur's. The Booster Club, who is sponsoring the event, will put maps out for directions.

Guerrettaz named top senior

by Beth Peter

The Marian College Twelfth Annual Student Achievement Program was held on Sunday, April 24, at 2:30 in the Marian Hall Auditorium. It recognized outstanding students in academics, clubs and organizations, and athletics.

The highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of the Alumni Association Distinguished Senior Award to David Guerrettaz for his participation in numerous extracurricular activities, his maintenance of a 4.0 grade average, and his service to the Marian community. A new plaque has been donated by Mr. Timothy J. O'Neill and the First Indiana Bank which includes the names of previous distinguished seniors.

Dr. Louis Gatto then introduced the key speaker, Mr. William T. Kelsey. Kelsey graduated from Marian in 1961 with a degree in accounting. He encouraged students to set goals for themselves, strive to reach those goals, and then re-evaluate. He said, "You might have to knock on a few doors to find opportunities, but the risk is well worth it. You should be willing to accept 'no' and afterwards try a different approach." Most of all, he wants students to meet the challenges they will face during their lives.

Sr. Claire Whalen announced the recipients of academic awards. She feels these students are not only developing themselves through their education but are motivating the educators as well. Awards were presented to students in the following fields: accounting, biology, education, language, home economics, mathematics, nursing, radiologic technology, and theater.

The Campus Ministry Christian Service Award was presented to senior Mike Minton by Fr. Bryan.

Dr. William H. Woodman announced winners of club and organization awards.

Letters to the editors

Student center

The proposed construction of a student center at Marian is a topic of importance and interest to all of us. In 1986 the college received reaccreditation from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. During that process, the student center was identified as the college's top priority. That has not changed.

The high priority placed on the student center project remains upper-most in the minds of the administrators. Admittedly, there have been setbacks in the timetable which was a part of our most optimistic dreams. The process has moved ahead at the Board of Trustees and administration levels. President Gatto has repeatedly confirmed his commitment to the project.

Early in this academic year, the Board of Trustees appointed a new Strategic Planning Committee. Bain Farris, Chairman of the Board, challenged the committee to consider many factors in Marian's future. Among these was the projected need for facilities and the priority placed on the student center project.

Acting upon the recommendations of President Gatto and Mr. Farris, the Board recently retained a strategic planning consultant to assist in the process of overall institutional planning. He too is looking at the total needs of the institution and is well aware of the priority placed on the need for a student center. He should complete his fact-finding early this summer.

Members of the board, President Gatto, and I have recently visited with potential "major donors" to request and encourage their support. Should these prospective donors decide to become donors of substantial "leadership" gifts, the timetable for launching a general fundraising campaign could possibly be established.

Like President Gatto and Mr. Farris, I would like to be able to make promises about the outcome of the strategic planning process, the proposals to prospective donors, timetables, and a definite construction date. To do so would be premature and irresponsible. The strategic planning process which is underway is exciting and will prove to be a positive factor in Marian College's future. I can assure everyone that the commitment to the project remains strong and that both the Board of Trustees and the administration are continually working to make the proposed student center a reality.

Sincerely,
Dan Nicoson,
Special Assistant to the President for Development

Thanks

I would like to take this opportunity to express my great and heartfelt thanks to Ray List, John Brown, Greg Knipe, Rick Walke, Jim Putterbaugh, Ron Schmoll and the entire maintenance staff for their help and support during the Spring Arts Festival. Without your support, the production would not have been possible.

Sincerely,
Scott Reinhardt

The Solution

Graduation day program set

by Ray List

The big day for many Marian College students is May 8, 1988. On that day, the hard work and frustrations of those students will come to fruition as they are handed the degrees conferred upon them by Marian College. These students have looked forward to this day, when they shall successfully graduate from Marian College and move confidently forward into their futures.

The day will begin with Graduation Mass at 10:15 a.m. in the college chapel, celebrated by Fr. Frank Bryan. Following will be a Graduation Brunch in the college dining room.

At 2:00, the big moment will arrive, when the graduates march out to St. Francis Colonnade for the Commencement exercises. The graduates shall march to the sound of the Optiguard Brass Quintet, managed by graduating senior Kiersten Hurst.

Sr. Mary Norma Rocklage, OSF, Ph.D., who is a former Academic Dean and current Trustee of Marian College, will present the Commencement Address to the graduates. Sr. Mary Norma will also be receiving an honorary degree of LHD, Doctor of Human Letters. Two other individuals will also receive honorary degrees. The Reverend Monsignor Gerald A. Gettelfinger, MS will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Law, LL.D., and Mr. Clay Smith will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Business Administration, DBA.

The graduation exercises will be followed by a rousing reception at Allison Mansion. Our congratulations and wishes for a great future go out to all the graduates.

Oscar Gonzalez is an accounting major who originally hails from Gary. Most of Oscar's relatives are from Mexico and his parents speak mostly Spanish. Because of this, Oscar says he is "sorta fluent" in Spanish.

He has been very active in many extracurricular activities: Golden Knights, Booster Club (twice their president), sophomore class vice president, junior class president, student board member, Accounting Society treasurer, cheerleader for four years, intramural sports, and a member of the Social Planning Committee.

One of the reasons Oscar chose Marian was because of the size. He really appreciates the faculty and admits they are very helpful. He thinks that students need to have more of a say in what goes on around campus and would like to see the completion of the Student Union Building.

Oscar's hobbies center around athletics like swimming, racquetball, volleyball, and tennis. He like to relax by listening to music.

He would like to find a job with a medium sized accounting firm in the Gary or Chicago area.

Oscar advises new students "to get involved with extracurricular activities, as well as studying. Make the most of your four years at Marian College."

Conference director resigns

by Tina M. Kunkler

Janet Padgett Alexander, Director of Conferences and Events at Marian College, announced her resignation, effective May 12, 1988. She said her decision to resign is based on the need for new direction and ideas in the program. "I have built what I believe to be a very fine program that has succeeded in its goals as far as I can take it," said Alexander.

A 1984 Marian graduate, Alexander was hired in October 1985 to fill the newly-created position. Her duties have included scheduling and planning dinners, meetings, summer camps, and parties in Allison Mansion, Marian Hall, the college library, and other campus buildings. The Conferences and Events program, built and managed by Alexander with minimal resources, presently draws approximately $100,000 into college funds, according to Alan Lisle,

Director of College Relations and Alexander's supervisor.

"The timing of my resignation is very important," said Alexander. Summer is the least hectic season for the program. It is the ideal time for a successor to come into the program, to see all the established events, and to begin to operate the program in his own style.

Lisle is currently interviewing several people to fill the position. He plans to make a decision by the end of the this week as to who will be hired.

Alexander named freelance work as a party consultant and possibly returning to school as future plans. "I need to go out and get some new ideas of my own...new, innovative, growth things. I'll never rule out the possibility of coming back to Marian," she said.

Organizer Angie Amies comments, "People will be on their own, but a balloon toss, volleyball nets, frisbees, and a football game will be set up."

Dinner at St. Maur's begins at 4:30. The final event of the evening is the dance from 8:00 to 12:00. Tickets are necessary for admission to the dance. They can be purchased for $1.50 in the cafe all week.

He felt these students should be commended for their leadership, perseverance, and creativity. "They make an important contribution to the Marian College community." Clubs which were represented include the Carbon, the Fioretti, the yearbook, Doyle Hall, Clare Hall, Accounting Society, and Booster Club.

The Golden Knight of the Year award was presented to Dawn Hengel. Class awards were won by Donna LaGrange (freshman), Kini Huckaby and Lucy Griner (sophomores), Kelly Shaw (junior), and John Dietzen and James McLean (seniors).

The athletic awards were presented by John Grimes and Molly Totten, who felt the athletic program has had an all-around outstanding year. Most Valuable Players include Rick Russell (men's basketball), Terrill Reed (women's basketball, volleyball), Brad Bechler (cross country), Clark Griffin (men's tennis), and Jerilynne Harland (women's tennis).

A reception at Allison Mansion followed the program. The theme was "A Day in the Park." Refreshments were served, and entertainment was provided.

Laura Landau and Sandra Groves perform on stage Annual Parents' Day succeeds

by Corinne Collings

Saturday morning, April 23, rolled around, and it was time to greet and register the family and friends of Marian College students for the first Annual Parents' Day. The sixty parents and friends were welcomed by Dr. Louis Gatto who briefly recapped the events and happenings of Marian for the past fifty years. After the announcements of the day's special events, the parents and friends went on their merry way.

The double-header baseball game between Marian and Taylor University was a success. Besides Marian's winning both games, 12-2 and 9-3 respectively, there was a great turnout of people, probably the best out of all the activities.

Approximately thirty people went to Allison and Stokely Mansions for tours and a few people, mostly parents and friends of the baseball players and theatre people, took advantage of the campus tours. Some others went to the Academic program held in Marian Hall which was headed by Dr. Rosalie Rohm, Jeff Cain, Dr. Faye Plascak, and Dr. David Edgecombe. Matt LaGrange, Becky Harris, Mike Sturm, Lisa Kaufman, and Karen Schneider presented the many different ways Marian tries to help and reach out to the students, especially the freshmen.

The Medieval Dinner held at Allison Mansion was very well coordinated. ARA, Janet Alexander, and the Office of College Relations worked together to give an outstanding meal to the thirty-one people who attended. This was one of the many events which were well organized and showed great teamwork between the three planning components.

Unfortunately, the weekend's events were not as well attended as had been anticipated. Perhaps the well-established Butler Romantic Festival, Little 500/Grand Prix weekend and up-coming final exams prevented many from attending. Planners and promoters hope that this event will become a tradition at Marian College. They intend for future arts festivals to be held in the falls and to be more publicized. Those who did take advantage of the day and attended the various events had an enjoyable time and all those who, with tremendous effort, organized this event thank those who came. As Ellen Frommeyer, President of MCSA, said, "It was the best event ever planned at Marian. It's unfortunate attendance was low."

Lighter side

by M.L. Rinard

As I watched a major news reporter on a major news program on a major network, I thought, wouldn't this make a great Lighter Side. So here goes:

"Have you ever wondered why...?"

...the people who work out in the PE building park right up to the doorway instead of walking a few feet to get more exercise?

...there are bottles and cans of empty alcoholic beverages laying around on the ground of an alleged dry campus?

...the students don't open doors for faculty members?

...the first person who rushes out of the classroom door is probably parked in a no parking area?

...when you only have five minutes just before a class begins you remember that your report is due and all of the computers with printers are in use?

...there is always a power surge in the MicroComputer Center just before you save a report you've been typing in for the past three hours?

...some people never use the computer they have signed out on?

...the bells to begin and end classes sometimes never ring on time?

...an enormous amount of students ride and use the elevator which is clearly marked "Faculty and Staff only"?

...the drivers either do not see or can not understand how to park a car between the lines in the parking lot and thus occupy two spaces?

...the buildings always seem to be air-conditioned during the winter months and heated during the summer months?

...the showers always run out of hot water right after you have lathered up (soaped) yourself and you have to rinse off in ice cold water?

Haven't you ever wondered why at times, too?

But to end on a more personal note ... over the course of the past four years, our graduating seniors have made an impression here at Camp "M." They have endured the educational process, and now they are armed to face the outside world, perhaps to change things for the better. They and we have met each other, become friends, and hopefully will stay in contact with each other in the years to come.

To the graduating class of 1988 of Camp "M"...WE SALUTE YOU!!!

[disclaimer: any similarities to Andy Rooney on the program "60 Minutes" is purely coincidental.]

Russell's farewell: "Coup de Grace"

by Russell Fox

As my first and final semester here nears a close, I've attempted to take another look at what could be done to improve these pale brick confines we call Marian College. I admit, I came here expecting little, and generally, got what I expected. However, I have been somewhat charmed by Marian. As institutions of higher learning in our fair city go, I've found it a pleasant alternative. But much work needs to be done to progress and improve. Money must be spent a little less conservatively. Changes must be made if Marian College is ever to be a highly recognized facet of our city, state, and, yes, our nation!

First get somebody to paint over the lines under the "A's" on all the Marian College signs near campus. Marian College no longer exists, so how about forever burying that irritating and annoying confusion. For that matter, all new signs, big and fancy signs wouldn't hurt, wouldn't be a bad idea. It is rather obvious that Marian's potential for increased enrollment depends on how many commuter students it can attract. The administration must put forth more effort to let prospective students know where, what, and why Marian College is.

Remember Les Nessman on "WKRP in Cincinnati?" How he had taped on the floor where his office walls should have been? I always liked that concept. Someone should get some fluorescent paint, find some empty space on campus, and mark off where the now infamous "student center" should be. If I had a dime for every person that threw that "student center" plan at me when discussing what could be done for commuters, I'd have nearly three bucks. Being that it's National Nutrition month, I'd take that dough to the Canteen, where a bevy of good and wholesome food awaits me.

There is really no reason that Marian should be as unknown and stagnant touch. But nobody knows about this place, so we must attract attention. Time is not on our side. Speaking of time, how about putting clocks in each classroom. Nothing elegant, just two hands and some numbers would do. That alone would be an enormous improvement. Really folks, I'm just trying to help.

Anyway, to all of you that remain here, good luck and thanks for being cool. I hope Marian can grow with all of you. Thanks again, and take care. I'll see you on the flip side.

"Someone should get some fluorescent paint, find some empty space on campus, and mark off where the ... 'student center' should be."

Psych faculty present papers

Dr. Drew Appleby and Dr. Faye Plascak, Psychology Department, presented papers and attended the Midwest Freshman Experience Conference, April 14-16, at Oakbrook, Illinois.

Dr. Appleby did a one hour presentation on "Methods to Increase Study Skills, Motivation to Learn, and Computer Awareness in a Freshman-level Course." Dr. Plascak presented "Residential and Commuter Undergraduate Attrition at an Urban Liberal Arts College."

The conference was attended by 350 faculty and administrators from 19 different states. The purpose of the conference was to share and learn ways to make the first year college experience transition less problematic for entering students.

Dr. Appleby collected many ideas and possible topics for the ED 107 new course "Excelling in College" offered in the Fall 1988.

Marian College, compared to other institutions, large and small, is at the cutting edge of interventions to increase academic success and social integration with our students. Dr. Plascak stated, "It is very affirming to know that a small institution can more successfully address the academic and social issues created by the rapid change in the student population of the 1980's."

Volleyball hits tourney

by Mollie Coan

Well guys, volleyball is just about over and that means it's tournament time here at Camp "M." This past week all the teams have struggled hard to get to the top and have had a great time doing it!

At last week's game, Steve Merry was so excited that he almost lost his pants! Perhaps Steve, if your sweats hadn't been so baggy, you could have moved more freely on the court!

Jem made "Spike of the Week" or was it "Punt of the Week?" You sure have a powerful foot, seeing that the ball hit the wall and ricocheted into the hallway! Jeri Owens hobbled all over the court and always seemed just a few seconds too late to get the ball. But at least she has an excuse!

The game got mighty tense there for a while when MJ Volley and the Walkies jumped at the referee, Dale, for an accidental call. You gotta keep these teams in control, Dale! Remember, some of these players are out for blood -- it could be yours!

Hey, Duck, are you a permanent player? And Heidi Hansen, how's that broken nail? Carl Gulde, it looks like you have a cracked hand when it comes to serving! Or was that a result of getting hit by Holly Fehlinger?

Tim Rosmarin sure has a lot of enthusiasm! Not only does he clap continuously, but the whole Comatose team does! Oh, I can't forget Karen Federspiel and her wicked hit to Dale. Karen, Dale is the ref, he doesn't play on your team...or does he?

I wasn't able to make it to Sunday's games so I missed out on the excitement, too. However, I hear Mustang Lounge is playing against Lagnet II and on the recreation teams, License to Ill has a tough challenge coming up against MJ Volley. They sure made a super come back seeing that they were at the bottom. What happened, Beno's Bunch? I thought you were undefeated! You guys played a great "season." Wednesday will be the final games, so if you haven't stopped by to see your schoolmates attempt volleyball, do! Before it's too late!

Knights seize conference lead!

The Marian Knights marched on Huntington and stole their day and maybe their season, handing their previous nemesis two solid defeats on their home field, on Tuesday evening.

John Rippenger upped his won/lost record to 7-4 when he took the mound to pitch a solid first game. Ace reliever Mike Hemmerick sealed the first game with a save, the final score being 7-4. In a closely fought second game of near precision baseball, Marian nailed down the conference lead behind the pitching of Stan Lay with Hemmerick marking up his second save of the night. The final score was 3-2.

Befitting a game for the Mid-Central Conference lead, the second game ended in a doubly dramatic fashion. First, the final play. Hemmerick pitching. Huntington had a man on first and one out. As Hemmerick hurled a searing fireball toward homeplate, the respectful Huntington decided to attempt a steal of second base. The batter swung, his bat crunched the ball with the sound of a solid hit. Juan Escalante, playing second base, and short stop Bill Pedtke saw that right fielder Mike Curtis had a play on the fly ball. They feigned a play on the stealing runner at second base, which sent the latter into a slide. Meanwhile Curtis caught the fly ball and fired it to first base -- a double play. A bench clearing brawl ensued, which Marian also settled.

According to Coach Lynn Morrell, "We don't quit. These guys don't run out of motivation. They know they are having a fantastic season. But they just keep coming at 'em." Morrell underlined the play of Garland King, Bill Pedtke, Doug Whitaker, and Brian Ellinghausen.

With these two wins Marian raised its conference record to 13-3, surpassing Huntington's conference record of 16-4. This past week Marian has handed opponents the following losses: Grace (6/0; 11/5); Taylor University (18/3; 9/3); St. Francis (16/0; 15/8).

Seven games remain in Marian's best season ever: conference double headers against Bethel and Goshen and games against the University of Indianapolis and Taylor University. The NAIA District 21 Tournament in Anderson on May 11-15, the semifinals in Ohio the following week, the World Series of college baseball in Idaho at the end of May -- all remain in sight.

Runners strain for charity

by Scott VanAlst

This past weekend members of the Marian cross country team took part in a fund-raising event. The purpose was to raise money for the cross country program through running. The team ran a total of 55 miles on Saturday and Sunday. Starting at 7 a.m. on Saturday, the Knights traveled 34 miles!

Before lunch, they had covered a grueling 26 miles through excruciating, hilly terrain. The team broke for an hour to recuperate. At about 1 p.m. they started off again into the warm afternoon sun, to finish the day's workout of 8 miles. These miles were the hardest to get through because everyone was so exhausted.

The Knights arrived at the Center Grove Resort for their Saturday night stop-over, around 3 p.m. They proceeded to set up camp with a brisk wind. The night was spent in 36 degree temperature with a broken door flap.

The next morning, two members started out early to get back for the awards ceremony. On the second day the team traveled 21 miles, mostly through Indianapolis. They were ahead of schedule on Sunday, but were so tired that they decided to go ahead and finish early. At 1 p.m. the Knights entered the Marian College campus overjoyed and exhausted.

The team has no idea how much money they are going to collect, but they would like to take this opportunity to thank students, faculty, and staff for their support. A special thanks goes to the ARA staff for getting all of the food and drinks together and for donating the T-shirts.
